

Monarchs and Milkweed: A Story of Survival | Banner Exhibit

A banner set consisting of graphics used in our full-sized 3D exhibit, specifically designed for smaller venues with modest budget and gallery space.

This exhibit explores the complex relationship between these two entities, as they each fight for survival in their own unique way, impacting one another's development or success at every turn. The popularity of monarch butterflies is far reaching. Through this familiarity, complex topics can be made accessible and easily discoverable for visitors of all ages.

A series of four large 8'x10' durable canvas banners create an exploratory space within the gallery, with opportunities for discovery at every turn. Also included are four free-standing trilons that expand on several topic of interest and a selfie station banner.
